FLOATING HOME OF ALEXANDRA

Emperors and queens of today lead a life distinctly strenuous, and that not by any means confined to social frivolity. In these days, majesty rises at eight to confront a bewildering program of duties, from the reception of ambassadors from foreign powers; and from a subtle maneuvering which may alter the balance of power between great nations.

On board Queen Alexandra's Victoria and Albert, however, things are vastly different. Here is a home in which Queen Alexandra may receive her most intimate friends without any kind of oppressive ceremony. One may imagine what a charming retreat for the queen of England is this floating palace, where she escapes the cares of a great court and the vexatious petty quarrels about "precedence" which agitate the women about her at the various dinners, balls, state concerts and "drawing rooms."

"The floating palace," has no callender is there any morning mail. There is no dressing seven or eight times a day with minute accuracy of detail; no formal audience to give; no newspapers with their hand stories; no eternal smile to be assumed; whether the queen's head aches or not. Just pure strong sea air and sunshine, a few chosen friends and relatives and utter peace and quiet.

From first to last the present Victoria and Albert has cost about $6,000,000 she was christened and launched in May, 1899, by the present Princess of Wales.

The ship is 439 feet long and is driven by the power of 11,000 horses so she will tear through the sea at a speed of over 20 miles an hour. The coal supply is large enough to take the yacht over 2,000 knots at a cruising speed of 14 knots, so that she could easily go from Portsmouth to the River without refueling her bunkers.

The entire scheme of decoration throughout this great vessel was arranged under the direct supervision of King Edward and Queen Alexandra. Simplicity is the note; and no attempt is made at anything gorgeous or oppressively elaborate. At the same time the fittings and decorations are quietly rich and sumptuous. For example, the dining room is a masterpiece of the severest weather and the action of salt spray, solid silver is used for the deck fittings.

In the various suites of rooms a subdued yet dignified character has been obtained by employing an old eighteenth century English style. The appointments are paneled in enameled white, while the necessary warmth of color is obtained in the furniture, carpets and draperies. In the king's private stateroom, for example, the carpet is a rich royal blue, which well matches the blue Morocco of the chairs. All the furniture here is of carved mahogany, slightly inlaid with other woods.

As to the king's bedroom, it is severely simple, with its swinging headboard of silver plate, without draperies, its satinet furniture, its carved metal work, and specially woven carpet.

The queen's bedroom is much larger than the king's. It is decorated in the purest Adams style—a perfect model of grace and beauty with its white paneling and stately canopy bed, with silk draperies, suspended from the ceiling. The furniture is of dainty grained satinwood with silver fittings.

The color scheme is a soft green, and of course, the silk hangings and curtains as well as the upholstery are all in harmony. The walls are of the bed has an elaborate monogram surrounded by a crown. Queen Alexandra's dressing room is a very large apartment with a beautiful bath of Jasper, and dressing tables of inlaid satinwood with front and side mirrors, in addition to an enormous cheval glass adjustable to any angle, and forming a moving panel in the wall.

Opposite the royal sleeping apartment is the superb drawing room, decorated with the Adams style, with a leaning Louis XV. The walls are of enameled white; the furniture is of hand painted satinwood and the hangings of blue silk. In one corner is a huge pedestal writing table, flanked by two small semi-circular tables and opposite the big yet very charming and homelike fireplace is a bed room. Bookcases and lounge seats make the drawing room a very delightful retreat in rough weather.

The royal state dining room is an apartment of noble dimensions occupying one-third of the vessel's length and is a masterpiece of design.

TENDERS FOR THE ERECTION OF NORMAL SCHOOL BUILDING, CALGARY, ALBERTA.

Sealed tenders addressed to the Deputy Minister of Public Works, Edmonton, Alberta, and endorsed "Tenders for Normal School Building, Calgary" will be received up to 12 noon o'clock noon, July 16th, for the supplying of all materials and the erection of Normal School Building in accordance with plans and specifications on view in the Department of Public Works, Edmonton, and at the office of the Inspector of Public Works, Armistice Stock, Calgary. The work may be tendered for separately or in bulk for all trades excepting plumbing, heating and ventilation which will be called later. Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque payable to the Minister of Public Works, for the amount of 5 per cent of tender. Cheque of the successful bidder, if any, will be retained until the necessary contract and bond are executed and the work completed. This cheque of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids or to waive any defects.

JOHN STOCKS, Deputy Minister of Public Works, dated at Edmonton this 3rd day of July, 1936. Dy 158-1677 lighted by no fewer than twenty-six windows and two large skylights. From floor to ceiling it is paneled in snow white, accented with a pilaster treatment of exceeding beauty and delicacy.

Covers can be laid here for thirty guests, and a menu produced by M. Gaston-Monier, Queen Alexandra's favorite chef, which would do credit to the most refined and delicate to any banquet in a royal palace on land. Close by is the beautiful smoking room where King Edward and his royal guests may chat over their cigars and liqueurs.

The grand staircase leads from a charming reception room up on to the floor to ceiling it is paneled in snow white, accented with a pilaster treatment of exceeding beauty and delicacy.

It is worthy of note that Queen Alexandra's floating palace is entirely in charge of high officers of the royal navy, with a rear admiral of the fleet in command. The crew numbers 280 men. As to the officers, these are always selected by the admiralty board to the "blue" blood in the land, and appointments to the royal yacht are greatly sought after, because they naturally lead to very high professional promotion.

Although the Victoria and Albert is a commissioned ship of the king's navy, she never goes to sea, not even in reply to the guns of foreign warships. If at anchor, the guardship of the port answers for her; and if at sea, her cruiser escort replies—Harpier's Baza.

Mr. James Ross brought to the Bulletin office a rare tract of nature consisting of an egg within another egg. The small egg inside was fully formed with the exception of the calcareous shell. Within it was provided with yolk and white as a normal egg.

A PEEBLE MUCK-RAKER.

(Toronto Globe.)

The Opposition "scandals" would be very formidable affairs of the members of the Government would refrain from interfering with the alleged statements of fact which the alleged accusers so laboriously pile together. They have been acting Alice in Wonderland all hession. When necessary it is to be taken for granted that the heroine is as tall as a tree and anon becomes tiny enough to crawl into a rabbit-hole.

Mr. Ames' charge against the management of the Intercolonial is of this kind. The Department purchased eighteen acres of land in the town of Moncton, which the increasing business of the railway made it necessary to acquire, and which the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific will render still more necessary. The value of the lands was submitted to three arbitrators, who decided that $1000 an acre would be a fair price for it, and that price was paid. That is the outward aspect of the case. But Mr. Ames by an ingenious process endeavors to throw doubt upon the transaction. For his own purposes he virtually leaves five acres out of his main calculations, and asks Parliament to form its judgment on the whole case as if those five acres did not exist. Why does he ask that the case should be considered in this partial way? It is very plain what his object is, and he finds a congenial helper in the Toronto Mail. That paper publishes a table of the land purchased by the Government, leaving out the five acres in question altogether, as if it did not form a most material part of the transaction.

The object is plain. The five acres left out are the most valuable portion of the plot purchased. The owner of this five acres, E. W. Hewson, had endeavored to sell it to the Intercolonial Railway authorities for many years. His price years ago was $7,000, and that was not too high, but not until recently was it felt that the land would be needed. The great increase of business on the railway at length convinced the officials that not only that parcel but thirteen acres adjoining it would be needed. In order to get possession several owners would have to be dealt with. Powers of expropriation might have been exercised through the Exchequer Court, but the experience of the railway with that means of acquiring property had not been happy. Mr. Emmerson, replying to Mr. Ames' charge, made the assertion that, judging by results in similar cases, that which has cost Government $18,000 would have cost by means of the Exchequer Court probably $30,000. And the advocates of the property owners on such an arbitration would have been able to settle values by adducing evidence that in 1884 Mr. Ames' political friends, who were in power then, had bought a half acre of the same land alongside the track of the railway for $1000 instead of employing the Exchequer Court; therefore, Mr. Emmerson submitted the question of value to Mr. Ryan, the Mayor of Moncton; Fred W. Sumner, a leading Conservative of Moncton and expert land valuator, and Mr. Marr, who is not regarded as a party man in any sense. The Government were dealing wholly with Mr. Hewson, the owner of the first five acres, who they supposed had obtained options on the other thirteen. We now have Opposition statement that the real owner of the first five acres, who they supposed had obtained options on the other thirteen. We now have the Opposition statement that the real owner of the options was Mr. Matthew Lodge, who paid the owners $13,375 and sold to the Government for $18,000.

From the public standpoint it does not matter whether the real owner of the property was Hewson or Lodge. The question is whether it was obtained at a reasonable price. No evidence is put in to the contrary except the fact that Mr. Lodge made $3,535 out of the sale. It was an handsome profit on an $18,000 transaction. But it is not so unpropitious that it becomes a suspicious transaction. Similar appreciations of property where land is purchased on a rising market are familiar to every dealer in real estate. Mr. Ames can find parallel cases in Montreal. The Mail can find them in Toronto, and they have occurred in every developing community, and yet nobody concluded there was anything corrupt about them. Mr. Ames' whole case is founded on the difference between the price paid by the Government and that paid by the option holder. It is a very slender basis upon which to endeavor to rear a mountain of suspicion and innuendo.

A. W. Taylor will leave to-morrow for a few days in Edmonton, where he will enjoy a few holidays at home. In conversation with a representative of the Phoenix Mr. Taylor expressed himself as more optimistic about Saskatchewan than ever before. ## A REGULATION FOR AUTOS

The suggestion has been made that automobiles should be excluded from streets along which concrete walks are being laid, or other work being done which temporarily obstructs or narrows the roadway. While the construction of the walks is in progress the old walks, as is the case on Naman avenue at present, are ordinarily hauled out into the roadway. The space available for vehicles is correspondingly narrowed and the difficulty of getting a nervous horse past an auto accordingly increased, while serious consequences are almost certain to occur should a horse swerve from the driveway across the broken plank walk and into the ditch. The drivers of machines might well be required to avoid streets on which the available driveway has been narrowed by this or other public improvements.

"THE GRAND STAND TICKET FAKE"

Under this head the Strathcona Plaindealer submits the following earnest remarks for the consideration of the management of the provincial fair:—
"The grand stand ticket fake was worked by the management of the fair to a finish. Over a wicket outside the enclosure that led to the grand stand was a sign 'Grand Stand Tickets.' You bought your tickets and were admitted to the enclosed enclosure. You had the privilege of a grand stand up against the ticket fence if you wanted to, but if you wanted a seat in what is usually known as the grand stand it cost you another quarter, and yet another for a cushion. The cushion charge no one objected to who felt the need of it, but when you paid your money for what you supposed to be a grand stand ticket and found yourself simply corralled at the track side you felt that the bunco men were in charge of the big show as well as of the little shows across the drive way and you wondered what would be the next hold-up."

LIMITING THE OUTPUT OF THE MINES

The opponents of Mr. Hill's proposed Canadian railway system should find both interest and instruction in the following paragraph from the Blairmore Times:

The prosperity of the Pass is again being threatened by the inability of the C. P. R. to promptly handle the output of our mines. There is probably no business enterprise so well posted on the rapid development being made in the mines of this section or their probable output as the C. P. R. Yet that corporation appears to make no effort to meet the steadily growing demand made upon it by our mines for additional motive power and rolling stock. The output of the Pass mines will this month be curtailed fully 10,000 tons for the reason that the C. P. R. has been unable to meet the demand made upon it for cars for the output. This short-sighted policy on the part of the C. P. R. in the event of another railway in this section may cost it a number of good large freight contracts. The mines are continually being obliged to shut down for the lack of cars and many orders for coal have been refused owing to the inability of the C. P. R. to deliver the goods. That this state of affairs should exist is to be lamented, but that it does exist is a fact.

According to the Times the possible output of the mines actually now in existence in the Pass is being curtailed to the amount of 10,000 tons for the present month alone by the inability of the C. P. R. to provide cars to handle the output. The charge is not even that the future development of the mineral resources in the Pass is being prevented by the refusal to provide shipping facilities but that this refusal is the present and effective means of preventing the normal operation of the mines which have been already opened and in which plants have been installed; mines in the development of which money has been already expended and which with proper shipping facilities could and would provide work and wages for a larger army of employees.

And the mining industry in the Pass has by no means reached its maximum and is probably still below its normal. If the full output of the mines already opened and the plants already installed is prevented in this manner how much greater must be the measure of damage which would be done in future by the continuance of these conditions?

The development of the Pass mines has not been a matter of a day or an hour, but has been sufficiently gradual for the Railway Company to have been able to foresee the certain demand for more rolling stock in time to make provision for the demand. That no such provision has been made is evidence either that the C. P. R. did not foresee the demand, or that foreseeing the demand it ignored it with utter disregard of the consequences alive to present investment in the mines and the future development of the industry.

In either event the remedy is surely the provision of competing railway facilities. If the C. P. R. did not foresee the demand its powers of observation should be sharpened by the necessity of hustling for business; if the C. P. R. foresaw and ignored the demand the monopoly which enables it thus to cripple a developing industry cannot be destroyed too quickly.

Whatever sentimental nonsense may be inculcated by the newspaper vassals of the C. P. R. to turn public opinion against the Hill system they are not likely to have much influence on the owners whose minds are handicapped and the miners whose earnings are lessened by the refusal of the C. P. R. to handle the full possible output of the mines in the Pass.

Another Victory For The Buick Automobile

In the racing contests held at the Edmonton Fair the Buick automobile made a wonderful showing. In the first event the Buick was entered against a Russell and a Winton. The two Buicks won first place, the one managed by Mr. Clare Watts making a record of a mile in 1.59 and the second with a record of 1.55.

In the second event the competitors were A. Ford, model C. A. Darracq, Model F and Model C Buick. Here again the two Buicks were first and second, winning easily.

Westmount

Because it is near the G.T.P. yards etc. It may be that there are some people who are fond enough of coal dust and smoke, the rumbling of trains, the tooting of whistles and the ringing of bells for twenty-four hours every day, to want to live somewhere within half a mile of what are bound to be very busy railway yards but we believe there are some people who would just as soon live a little farther away.

We ask you to buy

Westmount

Because it isn't near the G.T.P. or any other yards Just put on your thinking cap, size up the situation and arrange to buy where the choice residential property can be had. The G.T.P. yards are going to prevent the city growing Northward. As it is bound to grow it must grow East and West. WESTMOUNT is undoubtedly the finest suburban property in the West End. Just outside the city limits on the St. Albert road—between the West end city park and the city.

THE RIDER OF THE PLAINS

we both pulled up to talk about the weather and the crops. After a while my new acquaintance, who turned out to be a Missourian, three years in the country said:

"And now, my friend, you're about eight miles from the nearest hotel dinner bell and the sun is settin' down to the west. I can't promise you quail on toast or a tarrapin, or any such highfalutin business, but, if you've a mind to take pot-luck and can put up with ordinary hog and hominy, you're quite welcome and the old lady will be shore pleased to lay a plate for you. Likewise we'll put some oats in to that cayuse."

I didn't need any second invitation, thanking him for his hospitable offer we rode about half a mile down the trail to what he called his "shack," where we were greeted by his wife, a pleasant-faced middle-aged woman. The meal that was set before us did not need any apology and we two did justice to it, for the air in that western land is an appetite-breeder at all times and on all occasions. During the progress of the repast my friend from Missouri said that two things had combined to bring him to Canada to stay—the magnificent farming land and the splendid law and order that prevailed owing to the presence of the Mounted Police.

"There the greatest institution in this wide world for keepin' the peace," said he; "and I've been around quite a bit. They don't stand for any crooked work, and if a man wants to wander from the straight and narrow path, he just wants to keep away from the part of Canada where the mounted policeman does business. Did you notice the door as you came in? Fraps not. Well there ain't a lock on it and we've lived here for two years. It was this way. We ran the shack up in a hurry so as to give more time and attention to the winter wheat and of course, some thin had to go 'sby.' This time it happened to be the lock on the shack door. After the hurry was over, I made up my mind to get it the first time I stuck the village, which is full eight miles away. The day came and when I was starting I put an extra dollar in my jeans to pay for the lock. You'll notice before you come to the village you have to cross the railway track runnin' north and south. Well, when I came to the railway crossin' I threw my eyes up and down the track to see that none of them through freight was headin' down on me, and the first thing I noticed, was that a mounted policeman in full regalia, was standin' on the station platform, and he looked good to the eye. Look here, Silas," said I to myself, softly; "what in thunder do you want with a lock on that shack door? That feller on the platform with the red jacket and the yellow stripes down his pants is lookin' after your interests whether you are asleep or awake. Save your dollar till you need it worse." And I did. I went home with the dollar in my pocket and there ain't been any lock on that door from that day to this."

"But have you never thought it would be well to have a lock on the door?" said I, when the old man ceased speaking.

"Well," he drawled; "I reckon there have been times when after I had got some papers from the States that I've waked up at night and said to myself that the shack door ought to have a lock on it, and then I'd say to myself, 'Silas, you old loon, what are you worryin' about. Didn't you see that feller with the red jacket and the yellow stripes standin' on the station platform? Don't you know that he's watchin' over you, even in the dark hours of the night, and that where he is there ain't any room for whif cups, ku kluxers, house-thieves and such? Go to sleep you old loon, your protection is provided for.' And I'd turn over and go peacefully to sleep till sun-up."

All over the west you hear similar remarks on the efficiency of the Mounted Police and the confidence that is reposed in them by the settlers—old and new. You will be told of the surrender of the savage Sitting Bull to the representatives of Canadian law and order when Custer's cavalry failed and were done to death to the last man. You will learn of the mounted policeman who was called on to bring a maniac six hundred miles to civilization, single handed and alone, and how he succeeded in his task, though shattered in mind and body when the duty was done. You will hear of the policeman who at a moment's notice was sent hundreds of miles into the Indian country where a murderer had escaped and sought refuge with his tribesman, and how alone and unaided the constable succeeded in capturing the culprit and bringing him back to justice. Hundreds and hundreds of cases are quoted of the heroism and daring of the mounted policeman and whether on the uninhabited and sun scorched alkali lands in the early days, or when compelled to sleep hundreds of miles from the habitation of men when the storm king had put his finger at 50 below zero, he has been faithful to that spirit of devotion to duty which, as a raw recruit he pledged himself to make the rule of service when, in taking the policeman's oath, he closed with the impressive words, "All this I swear without any mental evasion, equivocation or secret reservation. So help me, God."

Stands beautifully high, commanding an open view of the city and has the advantage of frontage on the recognised, business section, namely, Jasper Avenue. At no distant date this property will be in great demand as a Choice West End Residential Location and with a street car service will prove one of the greatest investments offered this season.

STOP AND CONSIDER

Get in on the Ground Floor

North Jasper place has been very carefully subdivided by the Dominion Land Surveyors into Blocks, each containing twenty full sized lots of 150 feet x 50 feet. The streets are 66 feet wide and the lanes 16 feet. With the property sub-divided in this manner there will be no trouble in the future about allowances for streets, etc. The same cannot be said of many of the sub-divisions. Our advice is to buy a block, half block or quarter Block of this property, and buy it NOW, as there is nothing like getting in on the ground floor.

EASY TERMS

With the view to giving the small investor an equal opportunity to that generally offered to the man with greater means, we have decided to offer a limited number of quarter and half blocks at the wholesale price. This will be readily appreciated by all who have only a small amount available for investment. We have quoted the very lowest possible figures on this property and from present indications the whole sub-division will be sold within the next thirty days. Prices must be advanced next week.

Reports from everywhere indicate an improved wheat crop this year. The commercial wheat crop is the authority for the statement that year will see the line, and large crops of wheat over raised on the American continent. The crop of Manitoba grain statement is that much more may yet overtake the spring wheat which has nearly eight weeks to run yet before it is cut. With another week the winter wheat crop of the United States will be cut. Harvesting is in progress in the south and delivery has commenced at all the principal points.
Reports from Morden, Manitoba, state that wheat headed out on June 20, the earliest known for many years.

DEMANDS OF WHEAT GROWERS

Demand of the wheat growers of the west for improvement in grading and other provisions of the Manitoba grain act have been met to a considerable degree by the action of the House of Commons in amendment to the act, so as to make the provisions of the act more effective. The amendment of the farmers accepted the amendment as a temporary measure of reform, and under the new provisions in the near future. The proposal to appoint a grain commission for the purpose of finding a solution of many problems in connection with the grading and marketing of the wheat of the west was commended.
The request of Alberta and Saskatchewan for a distinctive grading of winter wheat was accepted and in future "Alberta red winter" will be a standard grade in the markets of the world.

COMMISSION ON GRAIN QUESTIONS.

Hon. Mr. Fisher explained that the agricultural committee had given a great deal of attention this session to grain questions, and had decided that a commission should be named to report upon the whole grain question. That commission, he said, would be named, and would be named immediately. An item in the estimates provided for its expenses. There were 20 members in which the committee found a unanimity of opinion. These had been embodied in the bill before the House. This commission was named to give a certificate of the weight of each car weighed by him, and that certificate would be prima facie evidence. This word "pump" is dropped from the 1st Manitoba act.
The extra No. 1 hard grade was also left out, as no grain of that grade had been offered for many years. As Alberta had started to produce a hard winter wheat, and the old act only provided a grade for Ontario winter wheat which was soft, the new bill defined grades for new Alberta winter wheat.
No. 1 Alberta red winter is to be sound, and clean, and weigh not less than 62 pounds to the bushel. No. 2 is to weigh not less than 50 pounds, and No. 3 not clean or sound enough to grade No. 2 and weighing not less than 57 pounds a bushel.

SHOULD NOT PLANT TOO LATE George Harcourt, B.A., the deputy minister of agriculture of the province of Alberta, was asked recently as to the condition of winter wheat raising in Alberta, and in the course of a lengthy reply, said—

"It has been successfully grown in southern Alberta for sixteen years, but only of late has it been taken hold of in any way to amount to anything.
The yield has increased from 32,000 bushels in 1894, 152,000 bushels in 1904, 600,000 bushels in 1905 to probably over 1,000,000 bushels this year.
"It is stated that winter wheat in southern Alberta can be planted late and succeed. Early planting, however, from July to September at the latest, is necessary in order to germinate successfully and get in shape to stand the winter. Considerable wheat has been sown later than that, and even until frost came, but always with diminished yield and with liability to be killed in winter or perish in the spring.

ALBERTA WINTER WHEAT A report from Calgary at the first of this week, states that, with no exception, the winter wheat seeded in the proper time, between July 26 and August 20, and well and deeply drilled and land properly prepared, is now looking well and is good for a heavy yield.
This is the verdict of an expert sent out to investigate the crop conditions in Alberta for the Western Grain Growers' and Millers' association. He deals exhaustively with the actual conditions, and predicts that the total yield in Alberta will not surpass that of last year, as the greater area will be counterbalanced by the loss through winter killing.
In proof of the statement, he calls attention to the fact that in many instances one field will be excellent, without one spot injured, through winter killing, while the next field will be considerably injured.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS

London, July 1.—The Times financial supplement reports, touching last week's commercial position indicates that, with few exceptions, raw materials were steady and manufactured articles in good demand. Although the stock-taking period usually checked the general demand, prices were mostly unaltered.
Wheat ruled fairly well, flour dull oats now; maize and barley, weaker.
The cotton trade was dull for raw material, with prices somewhat weaker.
Yarns were in good demand and well sold. In cloth the chief feature was the continued dullness of India and China staples. Native cloth was easier, but cotton cloth was steady. Yards were active and woolens firm.
The clothing factories were busy.
There was a steady demand for pig iron, while iron castings were at a continued in fairly brisk request. Copper and tin were easy in liquidation, but closed steady. Lead and spelter showed practically no change.

Of trade in Berlin the Times financial supplement says: The business transacted on the bourse last week was positively insignificant, the depression being more marked than in any previous week since the period of business set in. A material influence appeared from the industrial stock market produced by reports from the United States. The uncertainty which seems to prevail on the New York exchange, and the possibility of government action against the big trusts have combined to exercise a disturbing influence here.
The situation on the money market has not become any unfavorable; prices are beginning to relax, especially in view of the reduction of the discount rate by the Bank of England. There are no signs of a recovery in the private discount will once more rise in an early date. It was generally anticipated that the Imperial Bank would follow the example of the Bank of England and also make a reduction.
This expectation was not fulfilled. The financial position of the Imperial Bank continues to show a sign of a far heavier strain than any corresponding period in previous years. The amount of Japanese loan stock recently transferred from the United States and placed in the German market is estimated at £1,500,000. A mild sensation has been caused by the announcement that a Paris financial syndicate has taken up the municipal loan issued by Frankfurt-on-Main of 1,500,000 marks.
The German market for all domestic loans is very flat just now. This is regarded as a symptom of an approaching era of closer financial relations between Germany and France as a result of the agreement on the Morocco question.

The Paris bourse was very heavy last week partly on account of sympathy with foreign markets and partly on account of local causes. The contin-gent increase of taxation, which will be particularly on the stock exchange securities, induced many persons to dispose of their holdings. French rents dropped to 86 1-4, in spite of the Government's effort to uphold prices. It is believed that the selling movement, will exercise pressure on the Government to induce it to abandon much of the decided income tax. As a matter of fact, the Minister of Finance has not yet presented his project, and does not mention it in his budget estimates.
The situation in Russia is still fraught with danger, although a less pessimistic view is taken of it lately. The fact remains, however, that a large portion of the last five per cent loan is in shape for floating and weighs heavily on the market. An apparent over-subscription, as reported by the issuing banks, proved a fallacy. Bona fide subscribers were not plentiful.
Stagnant and still hold a huge quantity of bonds. There was not much change last week in foreign Government stocks, which were dull and irregular, parting of the general weakness. Spanish railways fluctuated within narrow limits. Copper shares were somewhat heavy with continued weakness of South Africans. The Colombian loan of £200,000, bearing 5 per cent interest, secured by the Havana Railroad, has been introduced in the outside markets at 86.

—Donald McDonald, aged nineteen years, died at the home of his father on Fraser avenue early this morning, after a prolonged illness. The funeral takes place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, to St. Joachim's church. The young man is survived by his parents, three sisters and a brother. He was until a year ago an employee of the Bulletin.

—H. E. Rudd left at the Bulletin office today samples of oats and barley from his farm at Ashterville. The oats are about three feet long, the barley three and one half feet and both were headed out. Mr. Rudd says his crop suffered considerably from cutworms, but that the uninjured is advanced as well generally as the sample and promises a splendid crop.

—A. H. Griffin and C. W. Walker, of the Hudson's Bay Co., returned on Saturday from the company's post at Wabasca where they have been in charge for some time. They brought with them some hundred packs of furs, and they say that the fur gatherers of the north have had a most successful season. J. Flides is now in temporary charge of the post at Wabasca.

—Mr. Brand, a newspaper man from Manila, Philippine Islands, is spending a few days in the city and may locate in the west, being forced to leave the southern islands, on account of ill health. Mr. Brand says the insurrection against the American authorities as an insurrection, terminated long ago and the spasmodic disturbances occasionally mentioned in press despatches are in reality the rounding up of Ladrones or brigands who attempt to add dignity to their performances by giving them the semblance of a rebellion.

—Calgary Albertan—The news of the death of Herb Whitney, catcher of the Calgary baseball team during the last two seasons and captain of the team when they won the championship of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, reached Calgary on Friday last. The sturdy catcher came to his death in a tragic way in a ball game at Waterloo, Iowa. Whitney, who was catching for the Burlington team, was hit in the head by a foul ball, and died six hours later. Whitney was one of the best and most popular ball players who ever appeared in uniform in Calgary.

—Calgary Albertan: The census takers are progressing very satisfactorily in their work of taking the census. The work in wards 1 and 3 has been accomplished, as well as the tabulating of the population in Riverside, Rouleauville, Bankhead and other suburbs. The census takers are sworn to secrecy and no statement has been made or can be made about the population or any of the results. There is a rumor abroad, the truth of which the Albertan cannot vouch, that the final figures may be somewhat of a disappointment to the people of Calgary, and that it will be found that the population will be somewhat below some of the high estimates made a few months ago.
